Comments/Articles on Policies / Documents / Draft Bills / Law Commission Reports / Committee Reports (3000 to 5000 words including footnotes)

ABOUT THE JOURNAL (JELP)

The JELP is a peer-reviewed and an open access academic publication based in Hyderabad and managed by Symbiosis Law School, Hyderabad, a constituent of Symbiosis International University, Pune.

The objective of the journal is to gain reputation as a dynamic and an authoritative source of informed analysis for all those involved in examining evolving legal responses to environmental problems in national jurisdictions. The Journal is published once in a year and is rigorously peer-reviewed and dedicated to publishing significant articles across a wide environmental law spectrum, seeking out innovative and authoritative appraisals of policy and practice, alongside current and emerging legal concepts.

JEL publishes cutting edge articles that reflect a rich range of different disciplinary perspectives in relation to the study of environmental law. JELP's concurrent commitment within the field of environmental law is further advanced through its supporting analysis, book reviews, and current survey sections.

The journal carries empirical studies, case studies, perspectives, reviews and also carries a special note on book reviews on environmental law and research from Indians scholars and practitioners.

FOUNDATION TO THE JOURNAL:

JEL is the result of multiple efforts undertaken by Symbiosis Law School Hyderabad (SLSH) campus to create a mindset and a platform for environmental awareness, environmental friendly business and associated jurisdictions within students and staff of law as well as citizens residing around the campus.

The environment consciousness, at the outset, began with a series of guest lectures by eminent environmentalists from Telengana state like Dr. Purushotham K Reddy, Professor (Retired), Osmania University, and Mr. M C Mehta, Supreme Court Lawyer at SLSH.

Next step is celebrating World Environment Day by inviting the Forest Department Officials and engaging in mass plantation at our campus involving students, staff, and local villagers near our SLSH.

Last step is, three of our Faculty Members and a couple of students have cleared the United Nations International Paris Climate Assessment 2016.
