ABOUT ADRS

Alternative Dispute Resolution Society (ADRS) is a specialised society essentially working towards the inculcation of practical and research skills primarily in the field of Alternative Dispute Resolution. Bearing in mind the complexities involved in commercial disputes and family matters along with the evolution of this field and industry requisites, ADRS focuses on sensitising and creating awareness of the alternative method of settlement.

ADRS, a student run-society, rests with the vision of promoting and providing all necessary resources to the students in order to inculcate ADR skills via workshops, training sessions, certificate courses and internal and National competitions. The society aims to bridge the gap between the students and industry leaders and other relative bodies for a successful practical learning and collaboration which acts as a core segment of law school learning.

ABOUT THE MASTERCLASS

The Masterclass on Arbitration Law will be conducted by a series of webinars.
