OBJECTIVES OF THE CONFERENCE

The objective of the National Conference is to bring together academicians, legal practitioners, research scholars and the students on a single platform and to reflect upon the ongoing debate of Uniform Civil Code in India. It will also provide a great opportunity to analyze the concept, idea, and philosophy of the UCC. In consonance with the same, the outcomes of the conference would help to disseminate the further repercussions and implement this vital issue of concern. It will provide the participants a conducive platform to put forth their views in order to have a holistic understanding of the topic.

CONFERENCE THEME

Uniform Civil Code (UCC) is one of the most widely discussed issues across the country. With a plethora of opinions from different sects of society and of the constitutional makers, the need of introducing a provision relating to UCC was realized in order to cater to the needs of the people and also to bring uniformity in the personal laws. While the judiciary had time and again opined that the legislature must strive towards introducing UCC in the country, the Law Commission, on the other hand, in its consultation paper on reforms on Family Laws negated the application of UCC in the contemporary society. Several activists and social reformers have also deliberated in this regard and were of the opinion that, when there could be uniformity in all the other laws, then why should personal laws be any different?

Keeping in mind all these deliberations and growing concerns about UCC and its application in India, this Two-day Conference shall provide a platform for the participants to put forth their opinions and suggestions in the matter. It shall also aid in reflecting on how this concept per se can be used for the development of the people at large.
